On March 24, 2019, a proactive and impactful Thalassemia Awareness Camp unfolded in the rural landscape, spearheaded by the National Service Scheme (NSS) units of Government General Degree College at Ranibandh. Collaborating with Barikul Police Station and Jhilimili Police Station, the program aimed to address a critical health concern—thalassemia—amongst the residents of the rural areas.

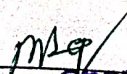

The outreach efforts specifically targeted the rural demographic, recognizing the need for enhanced health awareness in communities with limited access to healthcare resources. The campaign sought to bridge this gap by bringing essential health information directly to the residents of these rural areas.

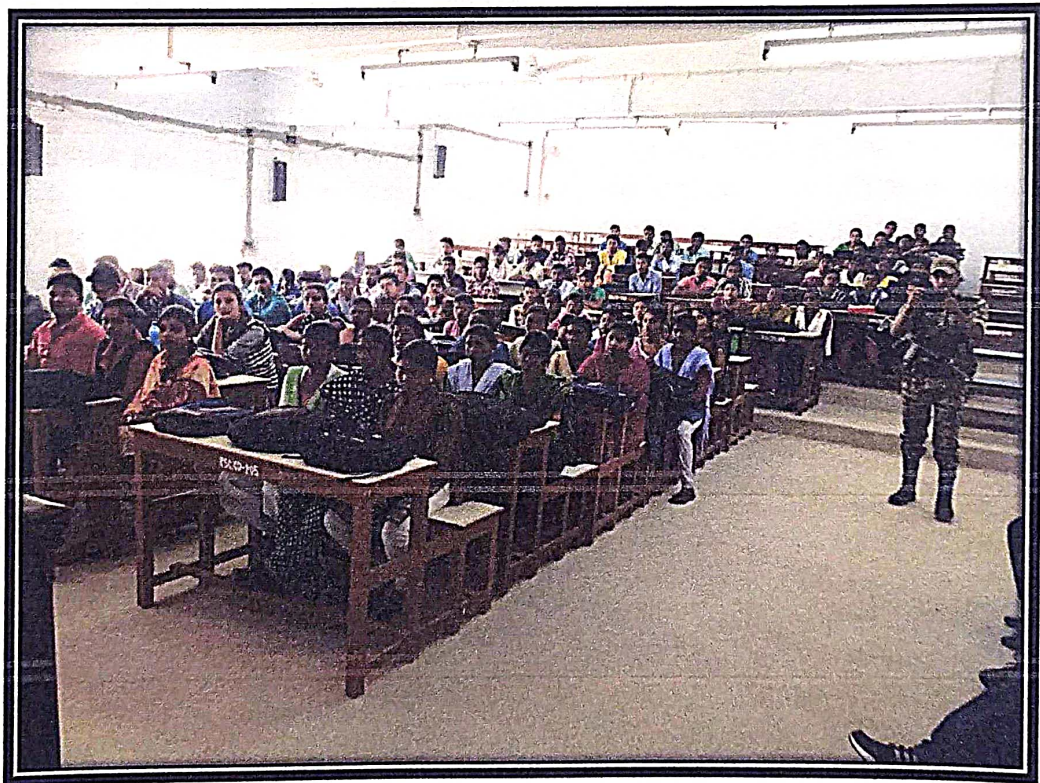

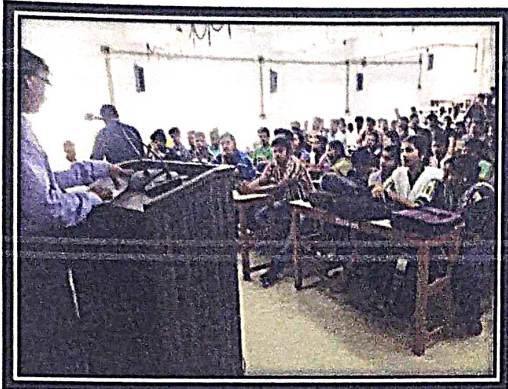

A key focus of the Thalassemia Awareness Programme was to dispel myths and misconceptions surrounding thalassemia within the community. The NSS units, in collaboration with local police stations, utilized their reach to ensure that the message reached even the most remote areas. This collaborative effort strategically leveraged the existing community networks, enabling information dissemination to be more effective.

Special attention was given to reaching backward class students, acknowledging the importance of inclusivity and equal access to health education. Workshops and interactive sessions were organized to educate students about thalassemia, its causes, and preventive measures. The program aimed not only to raise awareness but also to empower students with knowledge that they could share within their communities.

The event saw active participation from community members, with the collaboration between the NSS units and the police stations adding a layer of authority and credibility to the awareness campaign. Through informative sessions, pamphlets, and interactive activities, the residents were educated about thalassemia's impact on health and the importance of regular screenings.

In conclusion, the Thalassemia Awareness Programme conducted by the NSS units, in collaboration with Barikul Police Station and Jhilimili Police Station, stands as a commendable example of community-focused healthcare initiatives. By targeting rural areas, prioritizing backward class students, and collaborating with local authorities, the program effectively addressed health disparities and worked towards building a healthier and more informed community. ### Plastic Free Zone Campaign by NSS Unit and UBA Cell

The NSS Unit and Unnata Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell at Government General Degree College in Ranibandh collaborated successfully in executing a series of impactful awareness campaigns focusing on creating Plastic Free Zones, promoting Water Conservation, and preventing Dengue in the five adopted villages under the Unnata Bharat Abhiyan. During the 'Plastic Free Zone' campaign in the academic year 2020-21, dedicated teams visited the adopted villages to educate and guide the local residents on the importance of prohibiting the use of single-use plastic products. Clear instructions were provided on avoiding items such as water bottles, coffee cups, plastic bags, and polystyrene foam, with an emphasis on the harmful effects of plastic pollution on the environment and human health.

The villagers were enlightened about sustainable alternatives, urging them to switch to eco-friendly options like jute, cloth, or paper bags. Practical advice was shared, encouraging the reuse of such alternatives to minimize the impact of plastic waste. The aim was not only to raise awareness but also to instill a sense of responsibility within the community towards environmental conservation.

The Plastic Free Zone campaign was part of a broader nationwide initiative, aligned with the vision set by the Honorable Prime Minister of India to eliminate single-use plastic by 2020. The campaign commenced with a spirited morning procession from the college to the nearby villages. Students, teaching faculty, and non-teaching staff enthusiastically participated in the procession, reflecting the collective commitment to the cause.

The procession culminated in a gathering at the college's conference room, where the Respected Principal, GGDC Ranibandh delivered an enlightening awareness lecture, emphasizing the disadvantages of using plastic bags. The lecture served as a platform to reinforce the importance of adopting sustainable practices and reducing the reliance on single-use plastics. The engagement of students and faculty members in the campaign showcased the institution's dedication to instilling a sense of environmental responsibility and fostering positive behavioral change within the community. ## Water Conservation awareness by NSS Unit and UBA Cell

In the pursuit of fostering Water Conservation awareness, the NSS Unit and Unnata Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell at Government General Degree College in Ranibandh have undertaken a comprehensive initiative to address the water-related challenges faced by the villagers in the adopted areas.

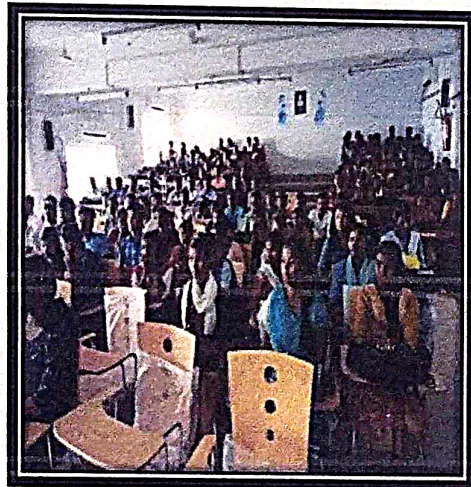

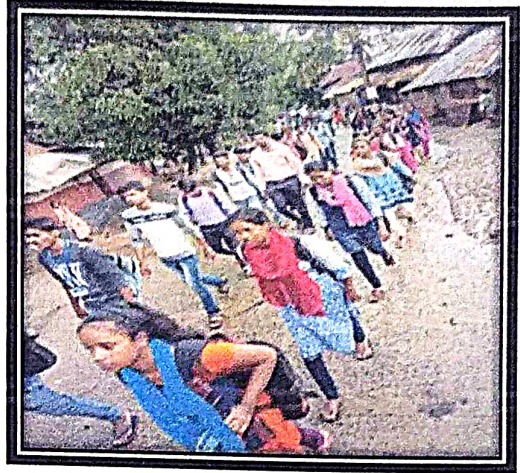

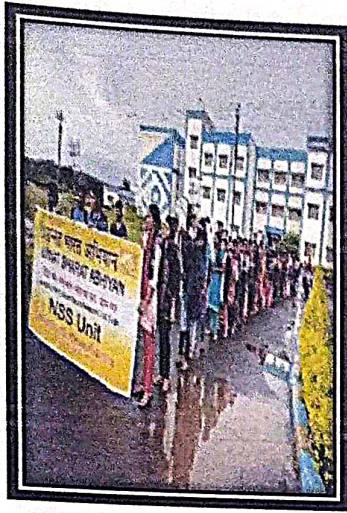

Recognizing the predominant reliance on tube wells and pumping for daily water needs and agricultural activities due to a lack of water conservation knowledge and the absence of water reservoirs, the college teams have proactively engaged with the local community. Through various educational programs, the importance of reducing unnecessary water wastage and implementing water recycling practices has been communicated and instructed.

The awareness campaigns focus on the concept of "earth-keeping," emphasizing the significance of conserving rainwater. Villagers are guided on implementing practical measures such as digging ponds, lakes, and canals to harvest rainwater, thereby contributing to maintaining the underground water level. The educational outreach extends to showcasing the benefits of these water conservation practices in sustaining agricultural activities and ensuring a more reliable water supply for daily needs.

Understanding the pressing need for water reservoirs to effectively conserve the underground water level, the college teams have actively communicated the importance of constructing such reservoirs within the community. The initiative aims not only to raise awareness but also to empower villagers with the knowledge and tools necessary for sustainable water management.

By addressing the water-related challenges holistically, the NSS Unit and UBA Cell demonstrate a commitment to not only raising awareness about water conservation but also actively engaging with the community to implement practical solutions. This initiative aligns with the college's broader mission of community development through education and sustainable practices, reflecting a holistic approach to address the vital issue of water scarcity in the adopted villages.

Dengue Prevention Campaign by NSS Unit and UBA Cell

The Dengue Prevention Campaign, orchestrated by the NSS Unit and Unnata Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell at Government General Degree College in Ranibandh, reflects a concerted effort to combat the dangerous and potentially deadly disease of dengue within the adopted villages.

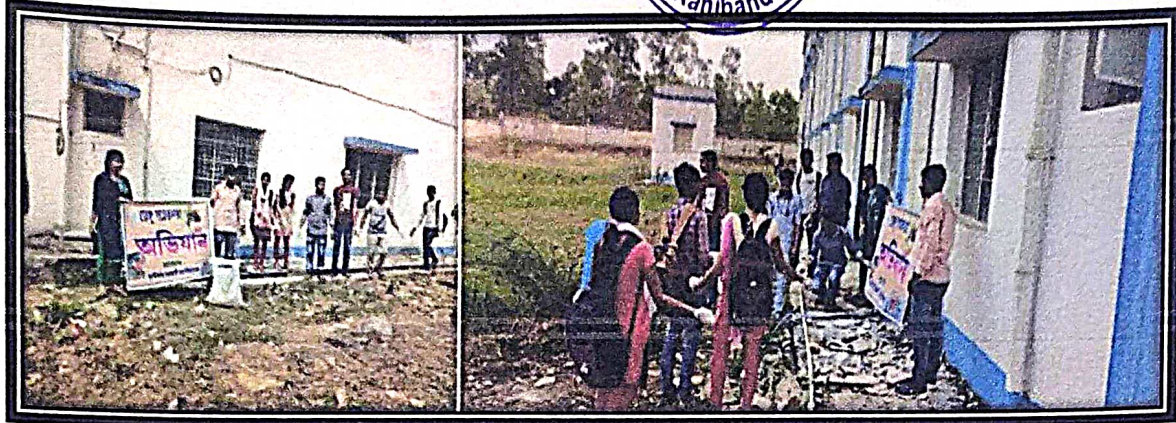

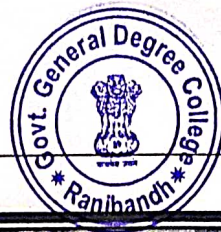

The teams embarked on a crucial mission to the adopted villages, where they engaged with the local residents to provide clear and comprehensive explanations about the nature of dengue and, more importantly, how to prevent it. Recognizing that awareness is the most effective weapon against dengue, the campaign aimed to empower villagers with knowledge about the disease and the necessary preventive measures.

The collective efforts of the NSS Unit and UBA Cell were symbolized by a united front against the threat of dengue. Armed with information and preventive measures, campaigners visited door-to-door in the locality adjacent to the college. This approach ensured that the awareness message reached every household, emphasizing the importance of collective action in the fight against dengue.

The campaign utilized various tools, including flags bearing preventive measures, to visually convey important information to the villagers. By incorporating these visual aids, the teams sought to make the information more accessible and memorable, reinforcing the key message: "We can win against dengue."

Additionally, the initiative extended beyond the adopted villages to the college campus itself. Recognizing the role of a clean and healthy environment in preventing the breeding of disease vectors, the teams undertook a thorough cleaning of the college premises. This not only served the dual purpose of maintaining a clean and hygienic campus but also acted as a visual representation of the awareness message for the students. The comprehensive approach of the Dengue Prevention Campaign by the NSS Unit and UBA Cell demonstrates a commitment to community health and well-being. By combining educational outreach, visual aids, and on-the-ground initiatives, the college teams effectively conveyed the message of dengue prevention, fostering a sense of shared responsibility and empowerment within both the college and the adopted villages.

Blood donation camp Organized by NSS Unit and UBA Cell

Blood donation camp (Date: 29.03.23)

On the 29th of March 2023, a significant and impactful event unfolded on the premises of our college as the National Service Scheme (NSS) Unit and Unnata Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell jointly organized a Blood Donation Camp. This noteworthy initiative not only marked a historic first for our college but also underscored the commitment of the NSS members to a noble cause that directly contributes to the well-being of the community.

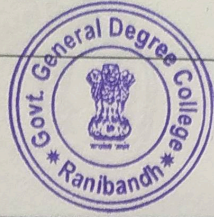

The Blood Donation Camp, executed by the dedicated NSS unit members, became a resounding success, with a total of 40 individuals generously donating blood. This impressive turnout not only reflected the enthusiasm and altruism of the college community but also showcased a collective spirit of compassion and service towards those in need.

The decision to organize a blood donation camp aligns with the ethos of community service and social responsibility that the NSS and UBA cells aim to instill. Blood donation, being a life-saving act, holds profound significance in healthcare and emergency situations. By facilitating this camp, the NSS unit not only addressed the immediate need for blood but also contributed to fostering a culture of voluntary blood donation within the college community.

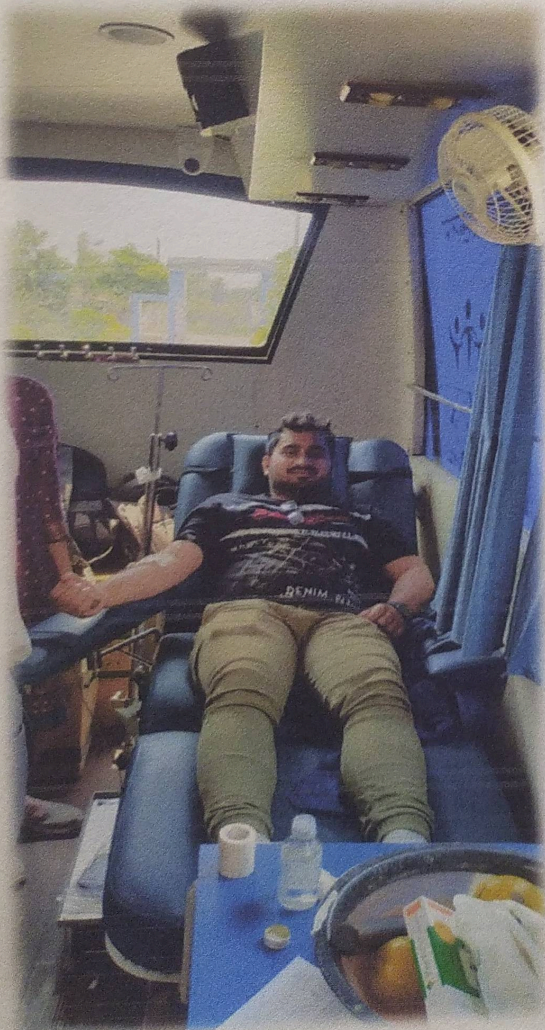

The success of the blood donation camp goes beyond the numbers; it signifies a paradigm shift in the college's approach to community service and healthcare awareness. The NSS unit members, in collaboration with the UBA Cell, not only organized an event but also created an opportunity for the college community to actively participate in a humanitarian cause.

The inaugural blood donation camp serves as a stepping stone for future endeavors in promoting health and well-being within and beyond the college. This event not only contributes to the overall development of a socially conscious and responsible student body but also establishes our college as a hub for community-centric initiatives that make a positive impact on the lives of others.
