Teaching Learning Methods

Teaching-Learning Process

In our Sanskrit Department, we are deeply committed to fostering an educational experience that places students at the heart of the learning process. We recognize the unique challenges and opportunities inherent in studying a classical language and aim to create a dynamic, engaging, and supportive environment tailored to individual student needs and interests. Here's how we implement a student-centric approach in our department.

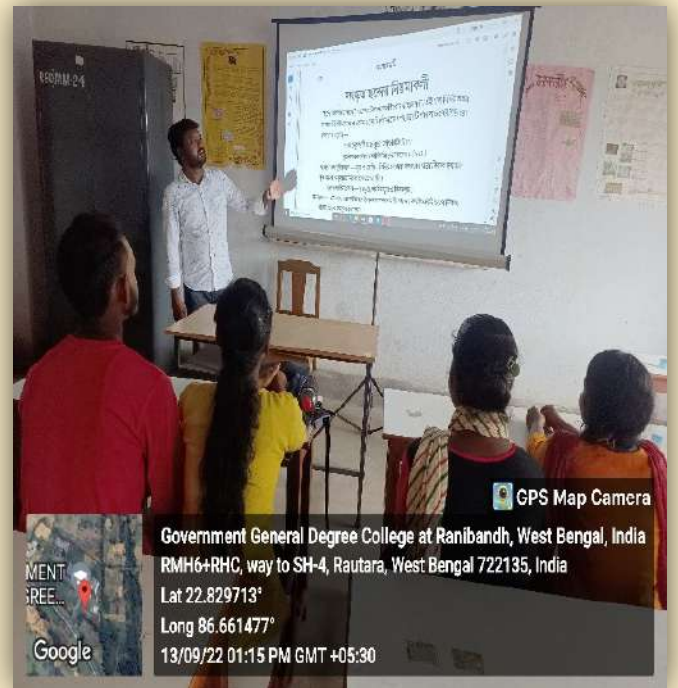

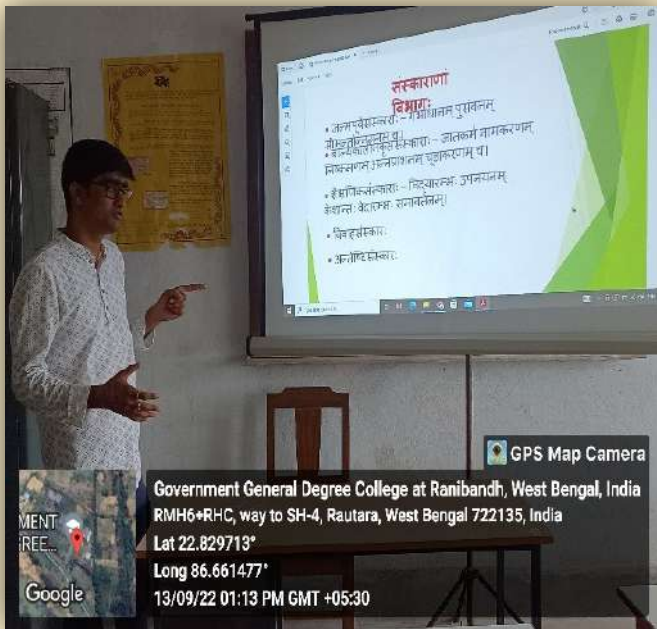

Each month, we administer class tests to help students prepare effectively for their final semester exams. Here's an image of our classroom atmosphere during mock test time.

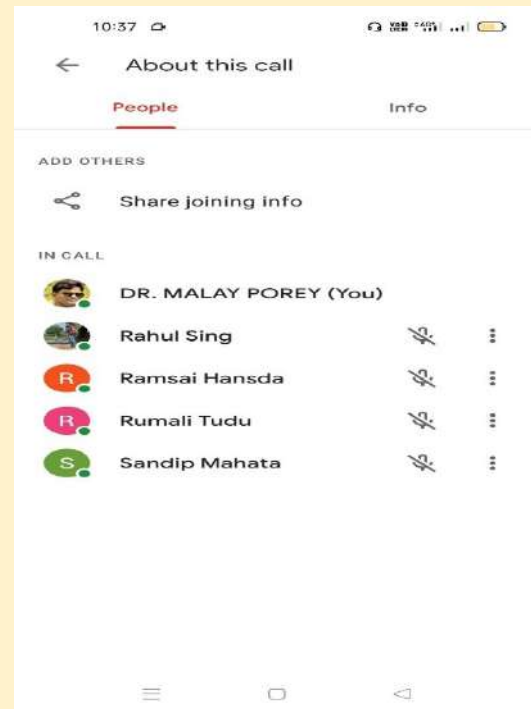

We embrace a teaching philosophy rooted in warmth and support, striving to create an environment where students feel genuinely comfortable and confident in their learning journey. By fostering an atmosphere of mutual respect and encouragement, we aim to build strong, trusting relationships with our students, ensuring they feel supported both academically and personally. The image below vividly captures the essence of this nurturing environment, showcasing the positive, collaborative interactions that define our approach and contribute to a vibrant and effective learning experience.

ICT-enabled Teaching

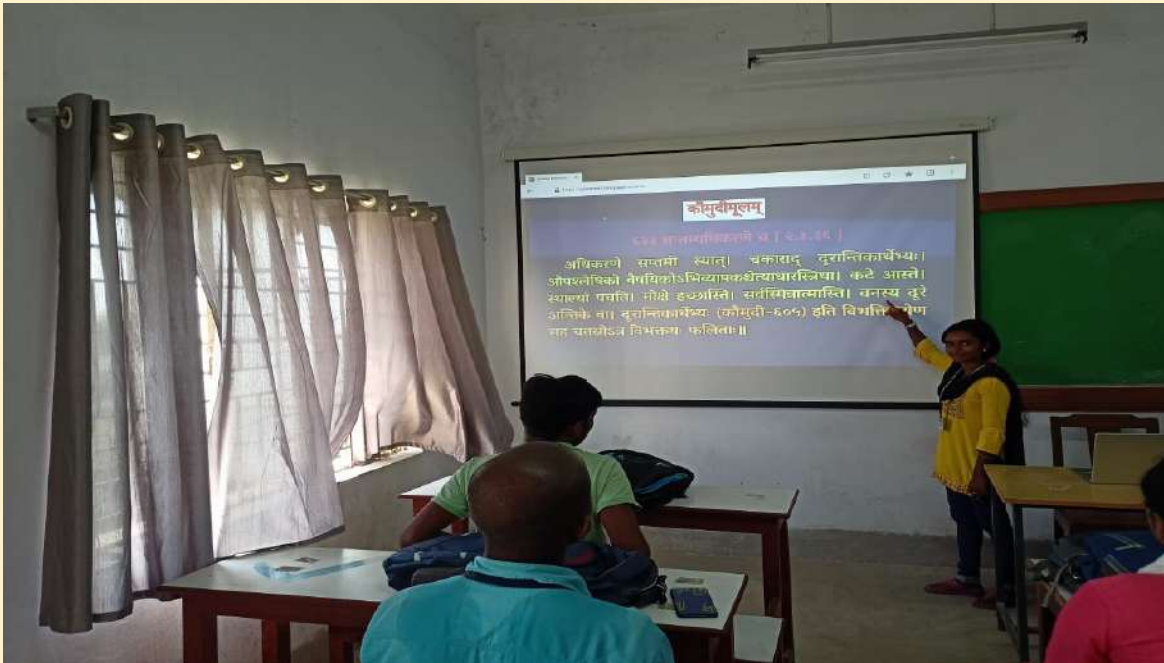

Our departmental teachers, Mr. Dibbendu Roy, Dr. Malay Porey, and Dr. Laxmikanta Murmu, conducted classes using advanced ICT-enabled facilities.

During the 2020-21 academic session, which was impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, our department's teachers led the class online mood through the Google Meet Platform. This shift aimed to continue advancing the curriculum and ensuring students received a quality education despite the challenges.

PPT presentation by the students

Our department takes great pride in showcasing the exceptional skills and talents of our students, and recent presentations have truly highlighted their dedication and expertise. One notable example is the recent PowerPoint (PPT) presentation delivered by one of our departmental students, which exemplifies the high level of engagement and learning fostered within our academic environment.

Group Discussion by Students

In our department, we place a high value on collaborative learning and active engagement, and one of the ways we foster this is through structured group discussions. These discussions not only enhance students' understanding of complex topics but also build essential skills such as critical thinking, communication, and teamwork. Recently, a group discussion involving our departmental students provided a compelling example of how this approach enriches the learning experience.

Essay & Quiz Competition by Students

Our Sanskrit Department recently organized an essay writing competition centered on a thought-provoking Sanskrit subject. The competition encouraged students to explore and articulate their understanding of classical and contemporary issues related to Sanskrit literature, philosophy, or culture.

The event was a valuable opportunity for students to delve deeper into Sanskrit studies and demonstrate their academic prowess.

Our Sanskrit department organized a quiz competition centered on the Sanskrit subject. The event included questions on grammar, literature, and history, designed to test and deepen participants' knowledge and appreciation of the language.
